COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

THURSDAY EVENING, 14TH OCT. 1875.

THE Liverpool Cotton Market yesterday closed strong, the sales reaching of late the unusual quantity of 25,000 bales, of which 6,000 were Surats. Spot prices as quoted showed an advance of ⅛d. per lb. in Fair Dhollera, Fair Omra and Mid. Orleans. Reuter says nothing as to the cause of this spurt, but from private sources we learn that a damaging frost is reported in America, and although no idea can yet be formed as to the extent of the damage, the market is now so entirely governed by American advices that anything which at all affects the outturn must have a marked effect, especially with prices at their present low level. Hitherto the accounts have been so uniformly favourable that large estimates framed without consideration have taken possession of public opinion, but once news of an opposite character begins to be received, the position will be more closely scrutinised, and even if no great damage results at present, the tendency will probably be to reduce estimates. In another column we give the views of a writer in the Liverpool Daily Post which are well worth attention, the comparison with previous seasons being very clearly put.

This morning's market opened firm, probable sales 18,000, actual imports 1,000 bales.

From New York yesterday evening's telegram quotes ¼ cent. per lb. higher. Exchange on London is unaltered, but Gold has advanced from 1-16 to 1-16½. The receipts at the shipping ports compare with previous years as follows :—

	1875	1874	1873	1872
Wednesday's Receipts.....	20,000	18,000	12,000	13,000
Five days' Receipts.....	92,000	80,000	50,000	63,000
Total Receipts since 1st Sept.	380 000	333,000	243,000	384 000

The London Coffee Market yesterday was flat at a decline of 6d. per cwt. Cocoanut Oil was unchanged. Bombay Linseed had advanced 3d., and Ferozepore Rapeseed 1s. per quarter.

Reuter advises that the rate of discount in the open market is ½ per cent. over the Bank minimum. As this will probably have induced a strong demand for discount at the Bank, an advance at to-day's Board Meeting becomes almost a certainty, the only question being as to the extent of the movement. The Bank by the last return was still fairly strong, and there has been nothing in the advices since to induce a belief in really dear money, but it is just possible the Directors may wish to check the demand at the commencement by a decided movement, and for this purpose anything less than a rise of one per cent. would be of little effect.

Consols this morning are quoted at 93¾. French Rentes at 104½.

Bar Silver in London is quoted by Reuter at 57d. per oz., a rise of ¼d, and this coupled with the upward tendency of money has caused a further rise here in STERLING EXCHANGE. The Banks are willing sellers at 1-32d. over yesterday's quotations, but there are still very few private bills offering, and while this is the case, the advance cannot be looked upon as well established. We quote :—

Bank Bills on demand	...	1s. 9 5-16d.	Per Rupee
Do. 6 months' sight	...	1s. 10 11-32d.	,,
Credits 3	...	1s. 10 to 5-16d.	,,
Do. 6	...	1s. 10 17-32 to 9 17d.	,,
Documents 3	...	1s. 10 11-32d.	,,

On Calcutta rates are unaltered, and the same remark applies to GOVERNMENT PAPER, for which there is almost no enquiry.

THE SHARE MARKET to-day has again relapsed into extreme dulness. Even Bank of Bombay's are quieter and have given way a half per cent., while Spinning Shares in some instances have fallen materially. Dhurrumsey's have been much pressed for sale and have met with few buyers even at a decline of Rs. 35, the present quotation being Rs. 875 per share against Rs. 2,000 paid up. Bombay United Spinning are Rs. 10, Fleming Rs. 20, and Great Eastern's Rs. 20 per share lower. Colaba Land Co.'s shares, have recovered Rs. 5, Volkart Press have fallen Rs. 20 per share.

COTTON has been in comparatively active request to-day, but dealers are asking an advance of Rs. 2 to Rs. 3 per candy which prevents any extent of business being done. In New Cotton no sales are yet reported, present nominal quotations being considerably over Liverpool currencies.

Freights are very dull, the quotation by steam for Liverpool having fallen to £1-12-6 per ton and even at that there is very little cargo obtainable. By sail the rate is purely nominal.

PIECE GOODS continue in fairly active request at fully yesterday's figures. The demand still runs chiefly on the better makes of 39 and 44 inch Shirtings, but Grey Jaconets and M adapolams also meet a ready sale.

THEOLD AND NEW AMERICAN COTTON CROPS.

(Liverpool Daily Post.)

A SUMMARY of the annual crop statement, published by the New York Financial Chronicle, was received per cable by the Liverpool Cotton Brokers' Association yesterday. The figures differ only 4,000 bales from those issued by the National Cotton Exchange on Friday last, the yield according to the one authority being 3,832,000 bales, and according to the other 3,828,000 bales. We are yet without the full details—these will come to hand by mail next week. The particulars actually received compare as follow with the figures for the previous two seasons.

Total deliveries	3881000	4146624	3881113
Stock 31st August	66000	108152	90989

The reduction in the crop is 338,000 bales or about 8 per cent. The reduction in acreage was about 10 per cent. The decrease in the total deliveries amounts to only 266,000 bales, or about 7 per cent. There is an increase of 29,000 bales in the shipments to Great Britian, which brings the decrease in the deliveries to the rest of the world up to 295,000 bales, of which 182,000 bales falls to the share of continental Europe, and 113,000 to American spinners. The large deliveries to Great Britain led to an unexpected concentration of stock in Liverpool, and to this circumstance that part of the long-continued depression is due.

One of the most remarkable features of the season is the large quantity of cotton taken by American spinners. After the uninterrupted complaints of bad trade throughout the season, and the numerous and protracted stoppages of machinery in the manufacturing districts, most people were prepared for a larger reduction than 112,000 bales in the deliveries to American consumers, especially as they commenced the season with a surplus stock of 85,000 bales. The particulars for the past five seasons are as follow, in thousands of bales.

	1874-5	1873-4	1872-3	1871-2	1870-1
North.....	1,063	1,178	1,063	977	1,009

Taken from stock —		—	50	40	—
Consumption...	1,193	1,221	1,251	1,137	1,019

Assuming that the stocks in the hands of spinners are no larger than they were twelve months ago, the consumption has reached 1,193,000 bales, or only 28,000 bales less than last year. But such a supposition is entirely at variance with the accounts we have been receiving of the state of trade in New England. But if this supposition be not accepted, we have to believe that the Northern spinners have not only held a surplus of 85,000 bales throughout the past twelve months, the bad state of trade notwithstanding, but that they have further increased that surplus. If American spinners have adopted and carried out this policy, they have exhibited less shrewdness than usual, and have besides taken an exactly opposite course to that followed by the spinners of Great Britain and the Continent.

The production of the past season, per acre, compares as follows with the figures for the previous four years :—

Seasons	Acres	Bales	Per acre
1870-1 ...	8,885,000 ...	4,352,000 ...	0·489
1871 2 ...	7,745,000 ...	2,950,000 ...	0·380
1872-3 ...	8,604,000 ...	3,930,000 ...	0·452
1873-4 ...	9,650,000 ...	4,170 000 ...	0·430
1874-5 ...	8,622,000 ...	3,832,000 ...	0·444
Average...	8,719,000 ...	3,847,000 ...	0·441

The area sown this season is about 8,755,000 acres, or slightly over the average of the past five seasons. This area on the basis of the production in each of the past five seasons would yield the following totals :—

Basis of	Acres	Bales per acre	Total number of bales
1870-1 ...	8,755,000	0·489 ...	4,281,000
1871-2 ...	,,	0·380 ...	3,327,000
1872-3 ...	,,	0·452 ...	3 957,000
1873-4 ...	,,	0·430 ...	3,764,000
1874-5 ...	,,	0·444 ...	3,887,000
Average...		0·441 ...	3,860,000

The highest possible crop according to this statement is 4,281,000 bales, and the smallest 3,327,000 ; but as the season is neither so good as in 1870-71 nor so bad as in 1871-72, the probability is that the yield will be nearer the average of 3 860,000 bales than either of the extreme figures named. This estimate is remarkably close to that given by us on Friday last as the crop indicated by the combined "acreage" and "condition" reports issued by the Agricultural Bureau—namely, 3,874,000 bales. Allowing for good weather during the remainder of the season, it is possible that 4,000,000 may be reached ; but it will require no frost, and picking throughout the winter months, as in 1870-71, to reach 4,250,000 bales. The chances, however, are decidedly against such a crop as this and at present our estimate of 3,900,000 to 4,100,000 is rather excessive than otherwise.

In reply to numerous inquiries, we give the following statement of the condition of the crop at the close of June, July, and August of the celebrated year 1870 (crop 4,352,000 bales) compared with the figures for the corresponding months of the current season.

	Condition, 1870.			Condition, 1875.
	June.	July.	Aug.	June.	July.	Aug.
	30	31	31	30	31	31
North Carolina ...	94	104	105	95	99	90
South Carolina ...	96	101	105	97	84	80
Georgia	101	100	105	97	86	76
Florida	98	110	115	101	85	75
Alabama	102	102	100	102	93	87
Mississippi	95	95	100	103	104	98
Louisiana	101	100	108	105	99	88
Texas	97	97	109	93	79	94
Arkansas	101	110	110	104	108	99
Tennessee.....	85	99	100	109	107	96
Average	98	102	106	101	97	89

The average for the three months in 1870 was 102 ; This year the average is only 95½—a difference in favour of 1870 of 6½ per cent., or 270,000 bales of a 4,000,000 to 4,250,000 crop. The most important feature, however, brought out by the preceding statement is the fact that whereas in 1870 the condition of the crop rose from 98 in June to 106 in August, this year it has fallen during the same period from 101 to 89. If these figures are correct, it is absolutely impossible that the current crop can attain (as some think) the total reached in 1870-1, to say nothing of the still more extravagant estimate of 4,500,000 bales.

It is finally arranged that the Nizam will leave Hyderabad by special train at 8 A. M., on Monday, the 1st prox. H. H. will be due at Goolburga the same evening at 6 P. M., and will leave again at 8 A. M. the next morning for Poona, arriving in Bombay on the afternoon of the 3rd idem. Eleven special trains will convey H. H.'s suite, guards, horses and carriages from Hyderabad, and will commence to run next week. His escort will consist of 200 infantry and 100 sowars, who, with their horses, will proceed to Bombay by rail. Transit for 4,000 is indented for by the Nizam's Government, exclusive of a large number of people expected to travel on their own account.

THE VICEROY'S TOUR.

The Viceroy and Governor-General of India will, according to the official programme, start from Simla on the 15th instant. The following is the tour list for the disposal of correspondence for the Camp of the Viceroy :—

15 h to 17th October—Umballa.
18th to 29th—Nynee Tal.
30th to 31st—Bareilly.
1st to 9th November—Meerut.
10th to 18th November—Indore.
19th to 25th—Neemuch.
26th to 3rd December—Ajmere.
4th to 6th—Jeypore.

After the 6th letters for His Excellency's Camp will be sent to Calcutta.

After Lord Northbrook's reception of the Prince of Wales at Bombay, he will, on the 10th November next, leave Bombay and arrive at Indore, the capital of Holkar, on the 12th idem, where he will be received with much pomp and circumstance by His Highness and General Daly. After paying a flying visit to the military station of Mhow, Lord Northbrook will start viâ Jowrah and Mandesore for Nusseerabad, which is by some likened unto Timbuctoo of the Sahara desert, owing to its situation in the midst of such a sterile country as Rajpootana. On arriving at Nusseerabad he will take train for Ajmere, and from thence for Jeypore, the capital of the Maharaja of that ilk. After participation in the hospitalities of Jeypore, the Viceroy will proceed to Calcutta, where he is expected to arrive on the 8th December.

Owing to the Viceroy having to be present on the Prince of Wales reaching Calcutta in the Serapis, he will be unable to visit Ahmedabad, Deesa, and Mount Aboo, as was his intention.

In this tour Lord Northbrook will be accompanied by Miss Baring, who, it is whispered, is preparing for publication (after Lord Northbrook has relinquished the Viceroyalty of India) an "Indian Journal," to hereafter revive the reminiscences of a residence in India.

We are informed on good authority that Mr. J. G. Moore, of the Bombay Civil Service, will succeed Mr. Robertson as Collector of Tanna.

Miss Emily Parker, a young lady of fifteen, who six weeks ago swam from London Bridge to Blackwall, on Saturday (Septembr 18) swam from London Bridge to North Woolwich Gardens, over ten miles, in 2hr. 23min.

A volume is about to be published in London collating the experiences of Colonel Horace Brown and Major Sladen's expeditions to Western China. Dr. Anderson, of the Indian Museum, who accompanied the former expedition is editor of the work.

We learn that the proprietors of the Royal Tourist have succeeded in obtaining the services of "Caro" on their extensive staff. This talented though strangely erratic artist will follow H.R.H. the Prince of Wales throughout his tour in India and Ceylon.

We learn that cholera has broken out with great severity at Badlapore, near Narel, and that assistance has been sent to that place. Three bodies were lying near the line of railway dead and putrifying, the villagers having fled and left the dead to bury the dead.

With regard to the recent attack on Commodore Goodenough, the Admiralty have received information by telegram from the senior naval officer, dated Sydney, the 18th of September, that the Pearl has gone to Melbourne, and that all the wounded have recovered.

Mr. Tennyson's "Queen Mary" is to be produced on the stage in America immediately, in advance of London. It is announced to be played in Arch-street Theatre, Philadelphia. A few additional scenes are to be introduced, and Cranmer is to be burned on the stage.

Mr. Smith has been directed by the trustees of the British Museum to resume his excavations at Nineveh, and he expects to start for the East early next month. His new book on the "Chaldean account of Genesis," which contains his recent discoveries, is now in the press, and will shortly be published.

The Peninsular and Oriental Company's steamer Delhi, with the London mails, via Brindisi, of the 10th September, grounded on the bar when entering the harbour of Alexandria, but after discharging a portion of her cargo and coal, was got off uninjured. The mails and passengers were landed and forwarded on to Suez without delay.

The India Portuguesa, of the 9th inst. says, that from a letter received by that journal it appears that His Excellency the Governor of Goa intends coming to Bombay to pay his respects to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. He will remain in Bombay to take back with him to Goa his wife and daughter who are expected to arrive shortly from Portugal.

The Academy announces that Sir Edward Creasy, the late Chief Justice of Ceylon, has prepared a new edition with large additions and illustrations, bringing the biographies down to the present time of his "Memoirs of Eminent Etonians, with Notices of the Early History of Eton College." It will be published in October by Messrs. Chatto and Windus.

His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to direct, that for the future all Government notifications relating to the public reception, movements, and proceedings in this Presidency of distinguished visitors, European as well as Native, shall be issued by the Secretary to Government in the Political Department. All communications and enquiries having reference to such matters should be addressed to that officer.

Besides ceding territory to the Czar's Empire, Khokand is to be garrisoned by Russian troops. General Kaufmann is to receive a diamond-hilted sabre as a reward for the success of his campaign. It is now ascertained that Weinberg, the Imperial diplomatic agent, had gone to Khokand before the outbreak of the rebellion, asking permission for Russian troops to pass through the Khanate on their way towards Kashgar.

The Indian Daily News is informed that at the investigation held by Mr. Stevens, the Collector at Buggolah station, on the 21st and 22nd September, on the accident which occurred on the Eastern Bengal Railway at mile 64, on the morning of Sunday, the 19th idem, there was no doubt that the accident was caused by the removal of a rail by some person or persons unknown. The Bengal Government has offered a reward of Rs. 500 for the apprehension of the culprit or culprits.

Our London correspondent mentions, in his letter which we publish this morning, that the Prince of Wales will not embark at Venice but at Brindisi. He also makes another announcement which will certainly "astonish the natives." He says that 20 picked Life Guardsmen in their jack boots and with their horses are to be put on board the Serapis. This display will make a very novel feature in the procession, and there will be probably as great a desire to see these men mounted as to look at the Prince of Wales, but to see one of them walking in his jack boots will be a novelty to many Europeans even.

The Pioneer gives the following information about the Indian Life Assurance Compay which has apparently been supplied by the Company :—"The Actuary's Report on the operations, during the five years ending last December, of the Indian Life Assurance Compay, shows that policy holders on the with-profit scale of five years' standing will be entitled, for the current five years, to a reduction of 40 per cent. of their premium. Shareholders do not, however appear to be so fortunate, as the Actuary recommends that they receive a dividend of only 6 per cent. per annum for the same period, and that 26 per cent. of the surplus be held security for future contingencies."

The presents which the Prince of Wales is bringing out to India will not all be of the "jewels wrapped in small parcels" description. He has ordered eight fire engines from Messrs. Shand and Mason, which have been made expressly to stand the Indian climate. "The works are entirely of gun metal and copper, and the wood is well-seasoned teak, and everything is finished in a superior manner. The garter and collar of his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and the Star of the Order of India are emblazoned on each engine." It is not stated for whom these engines are intended, nor whether the Prince will astonish the natives by working the engines himself.

The objection that most men are known to entertain to travelling in the same railway carriage with babies has been taken advantage of by a clever mechanic, who advertises "artificial babies for the use of ladies who wish to secure the sole use of a railway carriage." The advertisement continues, "common travelling infants, yielding intermittent cries of fear, and capable of being put in the pocket, 10s.; second class, crying not too loudly, but lamentably and insupportably, 20s.; third class, full squallers, with a very piercing and aggravating voice of five octaves, £2; fourth-class, first quality, capable of continued squalling £3." The babies can be made to cry or stop in a moment.

A serious affair occurred at Gibraltar on Monday (Sept. 20.) Of late the Spaniards have been active in attempting to suppress smuggling, and ordinary trading vessels have been unjustifiably seized. Information has now been received that a Spanish guardacosta was towing a French vessel in British waters, and an armed steam launch of Her Majesty's gunboat Express was sent in pursuit. She came up with the vessels, and finding that they were within British jurisdiction, took them both in tow. The guardacosta resisted the capture, and although repeatedly warned by the officer in command of the launch, persisted in an attempt to cut the tow rope. One of the Spaniards was accidentally shot dead from the launch.

The Pioneer :—"That troops are being sent by the Ameer of Cabul from Herat to attack the town of Maimana is the kind of information that, since the general reader is not very familiar with family ties beyond the Indus, might pass without exciting any intense astonishment. But it becomes improbable when we remember that not very long ago the Meer of Maimena was permitted the honour of marrying his daughter to Shere Ali." Considering the usual relations between kinsmen in Afghanistan, and more particularly the paternal treatment of his son Yakoob by the Ameer, we should have thought the fact of the Meer of Maimena having lately married Shere Ali's daughter was one giving additional probability to the rumour of troops being sent from Cabul to attack the Meer.

A great storm has been raging on the coast of Texas. The tempest in Indianola lasted two days. During that time the sea was driven into the streets, which were six feet deep in water. All the churches and three-quarters of the dwelling houses were destroyed. Many of their inmates were unable to escape, and some were carried out to sea. Whole families perished together, and bodies were found in every direction under the ruins and for twenty miles along the shore. Seventy corpses have already been buried. Assistance has been sent to the survivors, among whom great suffering prevails. The storm extended along the entire Texan coast. Several settlements were submerged, and the towns of Saluria, Matagorda, San Bernardino, and Cedar Lake, are reported to have been swept away with additional loss of life.

The London papers state that the Equerry in Waiting to the Prince of Wales has been requested to furnish a list of the suite of the Prince on the voyage to India. Sailing orders have been sent to the Serapis, Captain the Hon. Barr Glyn, to proceed to Malta, and thence to Brindisi, to meet and embark his Royal Highness. Captain Glyn will regulate his further movements in accordance with the instructions given him by the Prince. The Osborne, paddle-wheel Royal yacht, was to leave Portsmouth on the 27th Sept. and to proceed to Malta, where she will join the Serapis, and follow Captain Glyn's instructions as to her future proceedings. After being inspected on the 23rd Sept. by Admiral Sir Alexander Milne, Rear-Admiral Hornby, and Capt. Lord Gilford, the Serapis sailed out of harbour to Spithead for the adjustment of her compasses.

The following letter is published in the English papers in reference to the late disaster in the Solent when the Mistletoe was run down by the Royal Yacht Alberta :—

The Rev. J. A. Lawson, Rector of Poole, has received a letter from the First Lord of the Admiralty announcing that a sum of £500 will be given to Mrs. Stokes and £400 to Mrs. Turner.

The following is the text of the letter received by Mrs. Turner from the Admiralty, dated Sept. 22, 1875 :

"Madam—I am commanded by my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to communicate with you on the subject of the loss of your husband's life in the unfortunate collision between the Alberta and the Mistletoe.

"2. Their Lordships beg to express their deep sympathy with you in the loss which you have sustained and, without admitting any liability on account of such loss they are most unwilling that your anxieties should be further increased by the loss of the pecuniary support of which you have been deprived by this sad accident, and they have thought it most for your benefit that this matter should be dealt with at once.

"3. Their Lordships have, therefore, placed at your disposal the sum of £400, and you will be good enough to inform me in what manner your friends may advise you that the sum should be paid or invested for the benefit of yourself and your son.

"4. Of course you will undertake not to bring forward hereafter any claim upon Her Majesty's Government on behalf of yourself or your son.—I am, Madam, your obedient servant

(Signed) "Vernon Lushington."

On the evening of 23rd Sept. Mr. Robertson Gladstone, of Liverpool, died of congestion of the lungs and paralysis. This gentlemap was the second son of the late Sir John Gladstone, Bart., and the next surviving elder brother to the ex-Premier. Mr. Robertson Gladstone was born in November, 1805, and had therefore nearly completed his seventieth year. He was the only one of the four sons of the first baronet who never entered Parliament, but, devoting himself to mercantile and municipal matters, he had been for a long time one of the leading townsmen of Liverpool, and a prominent head of the Liberal party in the town and division of the county. Mr Gladstone was a justice of the peace, and had at various times rendered excellent service to the community on some of the public bodies which regulate its affairs. He married, in 1836, the daughter of Mr. Hugh Jones, of Liverpool, who predeceased him, and had a family of six sons and two daughters. Mr. Gladstone's death will leave a gap in Liverpool that will not be soon filled.

During the progress of the enquiry conducted by Captain Hunter as to the origin of the dispute about the sacred temples on the Satrunja Hills, between the Thakore of Palitana and the Shrawuk community of Western India, we learn that Captain Hunter, out of regard to the feelings of the Hindoo community, on visiting the temples changed his shoes for those reserved for such purposes and which are only used within the sacred precincts of the temples. His Excellency the Governor acted in the same manner himself, we are told, when he visited these hills last year; and this act is considered one of great moment by the Hindoos, for they believe that the sanctity of the temples is defiled by shoes worn by Christians or Mahomedans. But the Thakore of Palitana permitted his people to walk within the sacred buildings with their shoes on, a proceeding which has considerably exasperated the feelings of the Shrawuks. This dispute has attracted the notice of the entire Jain community in India, who are an inoffensive body and usually unassuming in their demeanour. Our correspondent says that Captain Hunter, though pressed by the Thakore to walk with his shoes on, as that Chief has done himself, declined to do so as he thought the religious feelings of the Shrawuks ought to be respected.

The gentlemen selected by the English Government to inquire into the operation of the Laws of Copyright have just received the Royal command to act as a Commission, and they will probably meet to take evidence next January. The following is a list of the fifteen Royal Commissioners :—Lord Stanhope, Lord Rosebery, Hon. R. Bourke, M.P., Sir H. Holland, Bart., M.P., Sir J. Rose, Bart., Sir C. Young, Bart., Sir Julius Benedict Sir Louis Mallet, C.B., Sir Drummond Wolff, M.P., Mr. Daldy, Mr. T. H. Farrer, Mr. F. Herschell, M.P., Mr. Jenkins, M.P., Mr. Fitzjames Stephen, Q.C., Dr. William Smith. The Daily Telegraph adds :—"The literary and dramatic element is not very strongly represented on this Commission, and the publishers are fortunate not only in having Mr. Daldy to advocate their views, but in finding that Lord Stanhope is appointed president of the Commission. The defects of our domestic, international, and colonial copyright law will no doubt be brought vigorously before these gentlemen by numerous competent witnesses, and it is also satisfactory to learn that Mr. Jenkins, who is a member of the new society for the protection of the rights of authors, is also one of the Commissioners. One of the points that will be strongly urged upon the Commissioners will be the necessity of protecting novels from unauthorised dramatisation."

The sentence on Brevet Colonel Burton, R. S. L. I., who was recently tried by Court-martial at Devonport, was promulgated on the 23rd September, at the Royal Marine Barracks, Stonehouse. It will be remembered that Colonel Burton was charged first, with scandalous conduct, unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, in having at Malta, in 1873, made false statements reflecting on the character of Lieutenant-Colonel and Brevet Colonel Richards, then commanding the battalion of Royal Marines in Japan, under whose orders he had recently been serving, to Lieutenant F. J. Beechy, R. M., in saying to him that Colonel Richards was a drunkard. The second charge was of scandalous conduct in having at Plymouth, between the 27th and the 30th of May, 1873, made false statements reflecting on the character of Colonel Richards to Colonel Wright, Colonel Forbes, Captain Cobb, and Captain M'Meekan, all of the Royal Marines, to the effect that Colonel Richards was given to intemperate habits, being commonly known at Yokohama as "the Drunken Colonel of Marines," and suffered from and had been treated for delirium tremens, although the medical officer who attended him returned him as ill from other causes. The third and fourth charges were to the effect that in having made these statements otherwise than officially the prisoner had been guilty of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline. The Court found that Colonel Burton was not guilty of the first and second charges (these [illegible] conduct) : that the statements made by the prisoner were false, but that the prisoner believed them, on reasonable grounds, to be true at the time of their utterance; and that the prisoner was guilty of the third and fourth charges. The sentence is that he is to lose four years' seniority as a captain.

The Daily Telegraph makes the following observations on the insurrection in Herzegovinia :—"Beyond the reported access of diplomatic activity shown in Stamboul, no incident has yet occurred productive of any change in the series of political issues dependent on the Herzegovinian insurrection. The rebels, or rather the foreign bands who have invaded Turkish territory, continue to obey the mot d'ordre which has plainly been issued from some influential centre desirous of keeping the flames alight. They are manifestly bent on prolonging a contest among the rocks and ravines, in the hope of enlarging the area of turmoil, so as to afford a broader ground whereon others may fight out the battle. That the outburst was not indigenous, but an exotic, is now tolerably plain; and that some State or party has an interest in its survival can no longer be doubted. Time will probably discover whose hand holds the clue to the mystery, and why the Eastern Question was so portentously raised, even remotely, in the summer of 1875. We shall also learn wherefore the Sublime Porte has not been told to act like Austria, Russia, Germany, or any other Power, in a similar case: suppress the disturbers first and afterwards redress grievances—a duty incumbent on all rulers, but not seldom neglected. That the decision of Servia has not been given frankly, and that the Russian Ambassador in Constantinople has proffered significant advice, implies far less a coming settlement than a wish to foster the cause of quarrel. At the same time, there can be no sort of doubt how the Northern Powers, should their subjects show symptoms of revolt, would treat similar advice, if tendered to them by Turkey. Nor is it now so probable as it appeared a few days ago, that all the military monarchies earnestly desire to see the disorder quelled. The Sultan's Government, at least, do not feel much security, since they have issued orders for augmenting the forces afoot. Meantime, the next step, backward or forward, depends upon perplexed and ambitious Servia."

The Official Imperial Gazette of 23rd September publishes the following on the policy of Germany in the Eastern question :—"A number of prominent newspapers, in particular several of those journals which as a rule support the Imperial Government in its internal policy, have for some time past openly given expression in their leading articles, letters, and other political reflections, to their views upon the latest phases of the Eastern question. The Foreign Office of the German Empire is in no way responsible for these observations, nor has it in any manner given, either directly or indirectly, cause for such an expression of opinion. As none of these manifestations contained up to the present in either the Conservative or Liberal newspapers arose from a want in the official policy of Germany of exercising a determining influence on the development of the Oriental question, so likewise do we not believe that the remarks of any German paper correspond with the views of either of the two Empires in alliance with Germany; or that it would have been desirous for any one of the three allied Courts to see the burning question discussed in the manner it has been by the German press, especially in those journals favourable to the Government. The foreign policy of the German Empire is not in the first line affected by these events, but rather constrained by the geographical position of the country to a reserved and expectant attitude, which confines itself to supporting the wishes of the friendly Powers directly interested in the matter. This position of things is so transparent to everybody that we consider ourselves well justified in assuming that the articles of even the most respected German papers will not give rise to apprehensions in circles friendly to the Empire, whether at home or abroad that the policy of Germany may avail itself of the present situation to either pursue or form plans springing from other than undoubtedly direct German interests. The policy of Germany is far from claiming purely for the sake of prestige or from a sense of power, a leading position beyond the measure of German interests. To remain the friend of one's friends comes certainly within the domain of German interests. The newspaper articles, however, which we specially intended to refer to at the commencement of our remarks, now no longer aim at the support, but at the disparagement of the policy of friendly Powers. It will therefore be of use to state that the Imperial policy is completely foreign to such utterances, and that for several months past no semi-official communications have been received through Foreign Office channels by any of the public newspapers."

BOMBAY.

Dr. Blaney's Lecture.—Owing to the arrival of the Overland Mail yesterday, we have been obliged to delay the publication of the remaining portion of Dr. Blaney's lecture till to-morrow.

Miss Carpenter, the philanthropic old lady, arrived in Bombay by yesterday's mail steamer.

Theft by a Portuguese.—Caetan Bastian was yesterday charged at the Fort Police Court, before Mr. W. Webb, with having stolen a paint brush belonging to Enas Pascol Cardoza, and having been found guilty, was sentenced to undergo fourteen days' imprisonment with hard labour.

The Archbishop of Goa.—A Goa paper states that the committee for the reception of the Archbishop of Goa are said to have left that place for Bombay on the 12th instant, with episcopal vestments, in case the Archbishop may wish to exercise his sacred functions during his stay here.

The Prince's Visit.—We learn that Mr. R. H. Vincent, some time ago acting Deputy Commissioner of Police at Bombay, who has specially been nominated to assist Mr. Souter during the stay here of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, is expected to arrive about the 21st inst. by the Kurrachee steamer.

Sunkersett Charitable Dispensary.—The total attendance of patients treated in this dispensary during the last month was 2 085; of these 595 were new admissions, consisting of 223 Hindoos, 273 Musulmans, 66 Parsees, 26 Christians, and 7 of other castes; the average daily attendance being 69·50.

Torture.—Govinda Dhondee, who was described as a cart-driver, was yesterday brought up before the Acting Senior Magistrate of Police, and was fined Rs. 10, or in default of so doing, to undergo fourteen days' hard labour, for having cruelly ill-used his bullocks by driving them while in an unfit state. The prisoner pleaded guilty and was fined in the mitigated penalty of Rs. 5.

Arrivals in Bombay.—We observe that by yesterday's mail steamer, Mr. Thomas Ormiston, Chief Engineer Government Reclamations, Mr. Charles Currey, Agent to the B. B. and C. I. Railway, and lately Chairman of the Bombay Town Council, and Mr. C. P. Cooper, Senior Magistrate of Police, returned to Bombay.

An Old Thief.—Govind Savajee, who was described on the charge sheet as a reputed thief and an old offender, was yesterday found guilty before Mr. W. Webb, on a charge of having stolen a shotur belonging to Keshow Manheshwar. His Worship taking the prisoner's antecedents into consideration, ordered him to receive eight stripes.

Allauki Pershoo.—This Khoja, whose appeal to Mr. Coghlan Judge of Tanna, was rejected, and whose sentence of six months' imprisonment with hard labour was confirmed, was incarcerated in the Tanna jail last week, and has since given the jail authorities considerable trouble by his insubordinate conduct and bad example to the other prisoners.

Mortuary Returns.—The total number of deaths registered during the week ending Tuesday, 12th October, was 340, being 18 more than in the preceding week, 31 more than the total of the week ending 13th October, 1874, and 19 more than the mean of the corresponding period in the preceding five years. During the week 268 births were reported in the different districts of the city.

Statement of Silver Balance in the Mint.—The value of silver in the Mint on the morning of the 4th October 1875, was Rs 65,61,231; and silver received during the week Rs. 10,55,930; Rs. 7,00,008 in new coin were paid during the week; the balance left was Rs.69,17,153. There is in addition of 11,86,960 rupees' worth of silver bullion belonging to private individuals deposited in the Mint vaults and awaiting assay.

Assaulting a Woman.—At the Fort Police Court yesterday morning, a Hindoo named Dama Bhika was brought up in charge of the police and prosecuted by Dowalla, woman, for having assaulted her on the same day. The charge having been heard before Mr. W. Webb, and the evidence being conclusive, his Worship fined the prisoner in the mitigated sum of Rs. 2, the assault not being of a very serious nature.

Theft from Mr. Nana Morojee.—Two men who were described as old offenders were brought up at the Fort Police Court yesterday, and charged before Mr. W. Webb, with having stolen a globe lamp, the property of Mr. Nana Morojee, the Third Magistrate of Police. The charge having been proved against both the prisoners, his Worship directed the second to receive twelve stripes, and the first (being physically unable to bear punishment by flogging) to six months' hard labour in the Common Jail.

Drunkenness.—An old offender, named Salim Succojee, was convicted yesterday before Mr. W. Webb, at the Fort Police Court, of having been drunk and disorderly on the previous day, and was ordered to pay a fine of Rs. 10, or in default of so doing, to undergo fourteen days' hard labour.—Four men employed as servants were convicted before the same Magistrate, on the same charge, and they likewise being all old off-nders, were fined Rs. 5 each, with the option of seven days' hard labour.

Ob-tructing a Thoroughfare.—A Borah shopkeeper, in Syed Ahdool Raymon Street, named Hossain Aliyr was brought up at the Fort Police Court, before Mr. W. Webb, and called upon to plead in answer to a charge of having obstructed the thoroughfare in which his shop is situated, by leaving some boxes and other things standing on the roadway. The charge having been proved, his Worship found the prisoner guilty and sentenced him to pay the mitigated penalty of Rs. 2.

Fair at Colaba.—A large fair was held at Lower Colaba last night and was continued up to an early, or rather a late hour this morning. Thousands of people assembled during the night to enjoy themselves, see the shows and feast on the good things provided for the public at the coffee-stands and elsewhere at stalls which were scattered everywhere. The tramways were running all night, and carried full loads at every trip. Great praise is due to Mr. Hill for the efficient way in which he provided for the very heavy demand which was made on his resources.

Attempt to murder the Raja of Bajana by Sorcery.—The Session Judge of Ahmedabad has just disposed of a case in which some six persons were charged with an attempt to murder the Raja of Bajana by sorcery. The details of the case are somewhat similar to those of The Queen vs. Pestonjee Dinshaw and another. Two of the prisoners were sentenced to transportation for seven years, and one other to rigorous imprisonment for three years. The Hon'ble the Advocate-General, Mr. Kharshedjee Nusserwanjee Wadia and the Public Prosecutor conducted the case for the prosecution and the prisoners were defended by Messrs. Branson and Ranchordlal Kapoorchund.

The Tramway.—The promised uniforms for the drivers and conductors of these vehicles are already, we learn, in the hands of the "durzees," and they will be ready for distribution about the 1st proximo. The reason why their preparation has been so long delayed, is that the manager thought it better to wait until the monsoon had fairly closed, before giving out the white clothes in which the conductors and drivers will appear to advantage. Under the management of Mr. Hill a clothing fund has been established into which each of the uniformed servants will have to pay his monthly quota. The company will then provide new clothes according as they are wanted, re-couping the expenditure from the fund. We are glad to learn that the wearing of the uniforms will be compulsory on all conductors and drivers.

A Disobedient Seaman.—A man named John McTavish was brought up at the Fort Police Court yesterday, and charged before Mr. W. Webb, the acting Senior Magistrate of Police, with wilfully disobeyed the lawful commands of his superior officer. It was stated that the man had shipped as boatswain and had refused to be rated by the rank of able seaman in consequence of his having misconducted himself. The captain of the s. s. City of Baltimore, the vessel in which the prisoner was employed, attended and appeared against him. The charge having been proved, his Worship sent him to jail for two weeks, and further directed that the amount of two clear days, pay should be stopped by the captain from what ever sum was due and owing to the prisoner. His Worship further directed that at the completion of the term of hard labour, to which he had sentenced the prisoner, he should be sent back on board the ship.

General Holidays.—The Honourable the Chief Justice and Judges of Her Majesty's High Court of Judicature at Bombay are pleased to publish the following list of days on which the High Court will be closed on the Original and Appellate Sides in future in lieu of the holidays heretofore observed :—

1 Makar Sankrant.
1 Mohurrum.
1 Maha Shivaratrs.
2 Holi or Shimga (the last 2 days of the Holi).
3 Easter (Thursday, Good Friday, and Saturday).
1 Varsha Pratipada.
1 Ram Naomi.
1 The Queen's Birth-day.
1 Ashadhi Ekadashi.
1 Naral Purnima.
1 Gokul Ashtami.
1 Ganesh Chaturthi.
1 Dasara.
3 Divali (the last 3 days of the Divali).
1 Kartik Ekadashi.
1 Christmas-day.

Captured at Last.—Succaram bin Vittoo, the convict who made his escape on the 2nd instant from the city jail, has been re-captured at the village of Mookhie, Talooka Seroor, on Tuesday last, by Shaik Syed S ff odeen, head constable, and Rajoo bin Chimajee Lume, naique of the Havallee talooka. It appears that Succaram was hiding himself in a bajree field when he was trapped. We trust that both of the policemen may be rewarded for their service.—Poona Observer, Oct. 14.

The Cavalry Regiments of the Bombay Presidency to stand fast.—In the Annual Reliefs for 1875-76 the 1st Lancers, which is stationed at Poona, was ordered to relieve the 3rd Cavalry at Neemuch and Nusseerabad, and the 3rd Cavalry to Deesa and Rajcote, while the 2nd Cavalry was to come to Poona and Baroda. In the Poona Observer of the 19th of August last, we stated that an alteration was contemplated amongst the reliefs of the cavalry regiments of the Bombay Presidency, and at the same time we stated, which we did not doubt at the time, that it would be more pleasant for the Lancers to remain another year in our cool climate. And we are now glad to state our wishes are realized, and that the 1st Lancers who left us last week for Bombay, will after the Prince of Wales' departure from this Presidency return to Poona, and remain here for another year instead of marching from Bombay to Neemuch and Nusseerabad. The march of the 2nd and 3rd Regiments are also countermanded, and ordered to stand fast at their respective stations for another year.—Id.

Voluntarily Causing Grievous Hurt to a Police Constable by Soldiers.—Private Thomas Jones, of H.M.'s 2-7th Fusiliers, and Privates Thomas Conelly and Charles Pierce, of H.M.'s 2-15th Regiment, were arraigned at the instance of the Cantonment Police yesterday, before Colonel G. E. Honeyman, Cantonment Magistrate and Justice of the Peace, for voluntarily causing grievous hurt to a native constable named Succaram bin Yellalla. It appears that the above three privates came from the direction af the city on the night of the 14th September last, and were making towards the Joona Modeekhana in camp, between the hours of nine and ten o'clock, in which street the native constable was on duty, when an altercation took place between the soldiers and the constable. The native constable had his head injured, and lost two of his teeth. Since the night the native constable has been in the David Sassoon's Hospital. He has now recovered from the effects of the wound and was discharged yesterday. The soldiers at the time of the assault committed on the constable were made over to the regimental authorities and were brought yesterday before the Magistrate where the case was undergoing investigation.—Id.

EUROPEAN AND OTHER EXTRACTS.

HEADS OF INTELLIGENCE.

(Home News, September 24.)

The court-martial on the officers of H. M. S. Vanguard, for the loss of their ship, has been sitting all the week. Captain Dawkins and his officers have been under examination from day to day. The inquiry is still proceeding.

The sentence on Col. Burton for circulating scandalous statements concerning Lieut.-Col. Richards, has been promulgated. He is to lose four years' seniority as a captain.

A letter sent by Colonel Ponsonby to the Marquis of Exeter, the Commodore of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, containing a message from the Queen concerning the recent fatal collision in the Solent, has created much discussion in the columns of the newspapers. The Admiralty have awarded the sum of £500 to the widow of the captain of the Mistletoe, and £400 to the widow of the mate.

A second magisterial inquiry has been held on the fresh particulars connected with the Whitechapel mystery. Circumstantial evidence is daily coming forward to connect the accused with the case. The young woman who was arrested with the prisoner has been discharged.

The Carlists are bombarding Gustaria, and at the same time are being attacked by the Royalist troops. It is reported that Don Carlos is preparing the draft of a convention for giving up the conflict.

The Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the Servian Parliament, expresses sympathy with the insurgents in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

From the Postmaster-General, replying to a memorial from the East India Association advocating a reduction of the postal rates between Great Britain and the Colonies, states that it is under consideration whether India should become a party to the General Postal Union.

Severe floods have been experienced in Louisiana and Texas, causing loss of life and great destruction of property.

The Serapis will sail for Venice on Sept. 25, to be followed in two days by the Osborne. Everything that can possibly be devised for the comfort of the Prince on board the former ship has been provided.

Obituary of the Week.—Lieut.-Colonel C. Baily, Ben. Ret.; Col. H. W. St. Pierre Bunbury, Bart, C.B.; Lieut.-Col. J. Campbell, late Scots Fusilier Guards; F. G. Fawcett, late Bo. C.S.; Lieut.-Col. J. Dess, J.P. for Northumberland; Prince Adalbert of Bavaria; the Marquis of Brantes; Lady Powis; Robt. Gladstone, Esq.; Mr. T. Vance, M.P.

REDUCTION OF POSTAGE TO INDIA.

The following correspondence has just taken place between the Council of the East India Association and the Right Hon. Lord John Manners, Postmaster-General:—"To the Right Hon. Lord John Manners, Postmaster-General,—The memorial of the Council of the East India Association showeth, That your memorialists have perceived with satisfaction that a reduction in the rates of international postage between England and several other countries came into operation on the 1st July last. But they regret to see that no reduction whatever has been made in the postage rates between India and Great Britain or any of her colonies. While, therefore, a letter or newspaper and postal card can now be sent from Moscow to San Francisco, or from Great Britain to Egypt, Suez, America, and Africa for 2½d., 1d., and 1½d. respectively, the cost to India remains at 12d. for letters, and 3d. for newspapers, while it is altogether denied the advantage of post cards. Your memorialists are aware that the reductions now made in international postage will, in all probability, entail for a time some loss to the postal department, although that loss will be more than counterbalanced by the advantages conferred on the community at large. But they venture to suggest that if the advantages accruing from the reduction of postal charges between Great Britain and other nations are, as is beyond doubt, considerable, the benefits of cheap postal intercommunication between Great Britain, India, and the colonies of Great Britain, although involving a slight pecuniary sacrifice, will be still more important. Whatever cost may be immediately involved will doubtless

THE WHITECHAPEL-ROAD MYSTERY.

(Times.)

September 18.

A week has this day elapsed since the discovery of the mutilated body in the Borough High-street of Southwark and as in the week many stories have been told of the terrible event, making the mystery still more mysterious than it has been, it will not be out of place now to show what as been done, and present an outline of the case which will next week come before the magistrate and coroner.

When the police found themselves in possession of the mutilated remains and with two persons in custody last Saturday night, the first idea, on the relationship of the two prisoners being established by the prisoners themselves, was that the body was that of Wainwright's wife. The credit to be attached to Wainwright's "statement," accounting for the body—a statement given when he for the first time realized that he had to answer for the terrible possession—was quickly sifted by the questioning of Stokes, who had returned from the East-end of London with Mr. Martin, the purchaser of Wainwright's business and stock in trade, and, up to that time, his employer. The police were quickly down at Whitechapel testing the statements of Stokes and sufficient evidence was found in the empty warehouse of Wainwright to justify them in giving full credit to the evidence of Stokes and placing full reliance upon his statements. Still they had not a clue to whether or not a murder had really been committed, and the next morning (Sunday) found them on the spot investigating the grave and the condition of the premises in regard to proofs of a crime of violence having been committed. On this second hasty examination they found sufficient to convince them that a crime had been committed, but the facts about it were puzzling, for they were only told of one missing woman, and that, one who had known Wainwright recently, and of whom Wainwright had expressed his wish that he could get rid, while there were no recent marks of such a crime about the spot. The officers heard about "Schoolhouse-lane, Chingford," and thought they would spend an hour or two in finding what relation that place had to the prisoner. They got out at the wrong station on the forest, and had a long walk until they came to Chingford, but no one could tell them where "School house-lane" was. A happy chance brought them face to face with a person who knew the name of Wainwright from having had to send a letter to him, and by this means they were directed to a little cottage in a secluded lane. Mrs. Wainwright and the children—five little ones—were out. The officers startled the woman of the house by telling her what they were, and that they must search the house. She told them that the Wainwrights had no furniture, that all there was her own property, and begged them to await Mrs. Wainwright's return. The family, who had probably gone to meet the father (expected home the previous night), returned, and then the wife heard the news as to the suspicions attaching to her husband She readily showed the officers his clothes, and they, having made an examination to satisfy themselves on different points, departed to seek elsewhere for the identity of the victim.

Monday morning gave the strange intelligence to London, and, not many hours after the newspapers mentioning Wainwright's name in connexion with the discovery had been circulated, a flood of anonymous letters began to pour in upon the officers, as is usual on all such occasions. One of these mentioned a relative with whom Wainwright was supposed to be on bad terms, and offered to send a photograph if an advertisement should appear in The Times for "Justice." The important fact was on Monday—while the examination of the prisoners was going on—brought to the knowledge of the police that a woman named L. King who had lived with the prisoner Wainwright (the two going under the one name of King), left him or was said to have left him, a year ago—at all events that she had not been seen for about a year. Wainwright's workpeople knew her, for he used to take her into publichouses near his trade place, and they used to pass the word when they saw her that she was "the Mrs. King." She is said by them to have been a lively little woman of pleasing manners, and with a love of finery. She used to wear, as Mrs. King, a thick wedding ring, as well as other jewelry suitable to a woman holding the position of a respectable tradesmen's wife, and she had for household expenses £4 a week. An officer was detached to follow the clue up. The information was then traced out, as was, word and fact, published in The Times of Wednesday—that Mrs. King was Harriet Lane, that she was taken from her home at Waltham-cross by the prisoner, who, as she said, "kept her as a lady," that she had two children by him, that she moved from the place where they lived to Stratford on the 11th of September, 1874—a year to the day on which the body was found in the prisoner's possession—that she went out on that day, leaving her two children, and saying that she was going to meet Wainwright, and never returned. Not only has she been never returned or inquired after her children, of whom she was very fond but her handwriting has never been seen since in any letter from her. The prisoner, upon being interrogated by her father and sister, and by the poor woman in whose care the children were left, returned an answer that she had gone off with a Mr. Frisk, or some such name, a friend of his, who promised to marry her on condition of her never speaking to her friends again, or holding correspondence with them. Wainwright undertook to pay for the children, and did so up to July last, when he stopped payment, and brought upon himself that importuning for money from Mrs. Wilmore described by Stokes in his evidence before the Coroner. Mrs. Wilmore and the father of Harriet Lane will be called as witnesses next week.

The police are searching out legal proof of all the important facts they have acquired knowledge of, but these proofs, of course, cannot be brought before the public in an official form.

September 20.

The skilled examination now concluded of the mutilated remains of a woman discovered in the Borough appears to show that she was shot in the head with a "peashooter"—one of those toy-like revolvers which can be carried without attracting attention—and that afterwards the throat was cut and with such violence as to sever the windpipe. This, it is supposed, was done immediately after the shot was fired, as the blood is found to have spurted down the woman's throat.

The legal officers of the Crown, having secured the evidence of the many witnesses necessary to make the case clear, will take a decided course next Tuesday as to the charge to be made.

An account was given in The Times of Saturday of the manner in which two police officers found in their journey by Sunday last to Epping Forest to Chingford that the woman was not the wife of the man in whose possession the parcels were found. This may fitly be followed by a narration of the manner in which the disappearance of Harriet Lane, alias Mrs. King, was discovered, and her relation to the prisoner Wainwright traced.

The Sunday journey to the Forest brought out the fact that Wainwright was in litigation with the Sun Fire Office in regard to a fire which occurred nine or ten months ago at one of his two shops in the Whitechapel-road—the one opposite the place from whence the mutilated remains were removed. The remembrance of the fire and the allegation of arson in connexion with it were in every one's mouth in Whitechapel when the news of Saturday's discovery came out, and the police had the intelligence given them that a Mrs. Rogers, the wife of the manager of Wainwright in his better days, was in the house No. 84 when the fire occurred; that she afterwards went to live at the No. 215 house where the grave is; that she had fair hair, and that she must, therefore, be the woman whose body had been mutilated, the imagined motive being that she was privy to the alleged arson. Investigation of the stories proved, indeed, that a man named Rogers and his wife did live, as stated, in the house where the fire occurred, and afterwards in Wainwright's other house. On Monday morning, while the case was before the magistrate at Southwark police-station, Sergeant Foster was detached to search out the facts, and the man Rogers was quickly discovered, and it was soon made clear to the officer that the dead woman was not Mrs. Rogers. Inquiry then as to a fair-haired woman whom Rogers had known coming to 215, Whitechapel, brought out the fact that such a woman had lived at Sidney-square, Mile-end road, and that Rogers had taken to this woman, whom he described, some of £4 and £5 a week from Wainwright. For the purposes of justice, Rogers was taken by the officer to Sidney-square, and his story was found to be correct—a Mrs. King having lived there and been visited in the day by "Mr. Percy King" and having disappeared suddenly a year ago. The officer followed up the trace, and is stated to have found that Wainwright himself was no other than "Mr. Percy King;" that the woman Mrs. King was in every respect of a similar description to the woman whose mutilated remains had been discovered; and that she had hastily left to live at Leytonstone with a Mrs. Wilmore. To Leytonstone the officer and Rogers next bent their steps and commenced a vigilant search for Mrs. Wilmore. The inhabitants of Leytonstone mistook the two men who were found persistently knocking at every door and inquiring after a woman for persons belonging to a class for whom the respectable working classes have a horror—namely, "tallymen," the class of tradesmen who tempt women with finery they do not want and cannot afford, and then force payment from the husbands through the County Courts. The whole district was consequently gone over without result; but the officer went again, on Monday, in quest for Mrs. Wilmore, to Stratford, and found her, a working man, and his wife named Cousens, who had known her in better days, having given her a shelter. From her the officer ascertained that "Mrs. King" was the mother of two children by Wainwright, and that they had been left for a year, since the disappearance of the mother, in her care. Mrs. Wilmore showed letters she had received purporting to come from a man who had "gone off" with "Mrs. King"—a man named Friske or Fricke. Wainwright had such a friend, and it was soon ascertained from him that he knew nothing of the woman's disappearance. It was also discovered that Wainwright had paid for the children up to last July, and had promised to pay his debt to the foster-mother next November, when he had hopes of his financial difficulties being adjusted. The woman Wilmore, who is the daughter of a deceased solicitor, had been a partner in a small dressmaking business with Mrs. King, alias Harriet Lane, before her connexion with Wainwright, and has shown a most unselfish love for the children of her missing friend.

The clue was then followed up to Waltham, where Harriet Lane was living when she first knew Wainwright, and an important fact has been brought to light. At the time when Harriet Lane left Waltham as "Mrs. King" the announcement of a marriage of "Percy King" to Harriet Lane was made in the local paper. For a time Wainwright held to keep her, as she told her father, "like a lady," but it is said that his neglect of her led to frequent quarrels. After her disappearance the father and friends frequently called upon Wainwright to obtain some account of the missing woman; but his answer had always been that he wished he himself knew, and this had been his answer down to the last few months. The family had a portrait of the woman a photograph in which she and a sister are taken side by side. This shows the relative height of each, and the height of the dead woman corresponds exactly to the height of Harriet Lane shown in the portrait. The description the family gave of her core responded in all respects to the remains, and on their viewing of them they had no doubt of the identity of the body.

In the kitchen grate of No. 215, Whitechapel, where the secret grave was discovered, on looking over the rubbish consumed in the grate a pair of metal earrings was found of what is termed a "gold" pattern—that is, made to look like the precious metals. The police had gained from one source and another a description of the sort worn by "Mrs. King," and their shape, and the pair found correspond to the description they had received. The dirt of the grave was sifted, and in it the keeper-ring and wedding-ring, both gold, have been found. In the ashes and dirt about the grave other articles, such as those worn by the missing woman, have been sifted out. At the grave, too, the pocket-knife of Wainwright has been found, and to his possession and from his possession has been traced a small "six shooter," revolver.

The police of the M. (Southwark) and H. (Whitechapel) Divisions will now have the assistance of the Scotland-yard detectives.

As to the evidence of Stokes in reference to his idea that the bundles contained "hair," he, it should be stated, meant, not human hair, as has been erroneously inferred in some quarters, but the hair used by brush makers. He had the idea, he says, that it was hair because Wainwright warned him not "to break it"—i.e., split and mix the bundles—as the difference in value between assorted and mixed hair is considerable. Stokes peeped into the one bundle because he thought the two contained some part of the stock which had been sold to his new master, Mr. Martin, and that he was being made a party to some wrong doing, especially after the cautious attitude assumed by Wainwright.

September 23.

Yesterday a re-examination of the human remains found in the possession of Wainwright was made in presence of a medical man who attended on behalf of the defence. There were also present Mr. Larkin, who first saw the body, and Mr. Bond, the Lecturer on Forensic Medicine at Westminster Hospital, who had been instructed by the Treasury to make an independent examination.

The journey of a police officer with Rogers, the late foreman of Wainwright, over Leytonstone on Monday week last while the Police-court examination was proceeding, in the endeavour to find out Mrs. Wilmore, so as to learn tidings of "Mrs. King," was described in these columns a few days since, and it was stated that the officer and Rogers returned from the quest unsuccessful. From what the officer had learnt at Sidney-square and other places, before proceeding to Leytonstone, he gave his superiors to understand that he had every reason to believe that the body was that of a Mrs. King; but this was not communicated until after midnight, for the search was not given over until an hour before. On the same night, at the time when the officer and Rogers were pursuing their inquiries at Leytonstone, a person attended at a West London Police station, and stated that he believed, from the names mentioned in connexion with the discovery, he could give some information, as his sister was missing in that neighbourhood a year ago. He was told that it would be impossible to identify the body by the face, and he then gave testimony, which was written down, as to means of identification other than by the features. These means were described by Mr. Taylor at the police-court in his sworn testimony, and, he added, the name of the missing woman he referred to was Harriet Lane, otherwise "Mrs. King." At night he was taken to the vaults of the church where the remains lie, and the officer having by this time returned from Leytonstone the name of Mrs. King came to official knowledge from two different quarters at the same time. Mr. Taylor supplied the information not only as to the parents but also as to the whereabouts of the lost Mrs. Wilmore; and on the Tuesday morning the poor woman was found at Stratford, with the two children, she having had to move to shelter offered her by a working man and his wife who had known her in better times. The information she furnished to the police was important, as will be shown when the examination before the Magistrate is resumed.

The police are still actively engaged in investigating the evidence, which, as the counsel for the prosecution stated, is crowding upon them.

September 24.

The re-examination, in the presence of an East-end practitioner on behalf of the defence, of the remains found in the Borough was, it is understood, concluded yesterday. If there should be any difference of medical opinion it will doubtless be shown at the inquest, which is to be resumed to-day. The evidence in the case is of so voluminous a character, and has so many branches and points of interest and importance, that it is a matter of great doubt as to the number of adjournments which will be necessary before the whole of the evidence in the hands of the authorities can be placed before the jury.

Alice Day, the late fellow prisoner of the accused in the primary charge of being in possession of the remains under circumstances which are fresh in the public mind, has made an explanatory "statement." It will be seen from the evidence that the cab with the remains drove eastward down the Commercial-road, and after taking her as a passenger turned and drove in the opposite direction—over the ground it had travelled eastwardly from Whitechapel to the south-west. She states that she met the prisoner after she had been in a publichouse with a male friend of the theatre company in which she was a front-row lady of the ballet; and that so far from being by appointment as alleged, it was by mere accident, that he asked her to go with him to London-bridge, saying he had a cab, that she rode with him, but did not speak to him the whole way, and that a smell she noticed in the cab she attributed to the action of the heat upon the American cloth. She admits that she had been to publichouses and theatres with Wainwright at other times; but denies ever having been on more intimate terms; and denies, too, the statement which has found its way into public print, that she was in receipt of money from him. The police and officers of the gaol where she was held in custody were, she statements says, uniformly kind to her. She denies all knowledge of the missing woman, and declares that she did not know that the prisoner had such a connexion.

It is now likely that the young woman will be called as a witness, either on one side or the other.

ESTABLISHED 1815.
The extensive patronage accorded to us for upwards of Half a Century affords ample guarantee of the high stand and purity of our brands.

NEW DUTIES. NEW DUTIES.
NOTIFICATION.
The recent augmentation of Duties in addition to recently imposed Town Dues has rendered it compulsory for us to alter quotations.
We are obliged to treat the Cash disbursements now demanded of us by Government and the Municipality as a cash advance, upon which if Credit is taken we must charge 5 per cent interest but not otherwise. We shall therefore from henceforth quote an "in bond" price for all our Wines, Spirits and Cordials, adding to invoice the forwarding charges and Town Dues.
We regret that there has been so excessive an increase in Custom Duties on our "article de commerce" in particular for to Europeans in India Wines and Spirits are, in numberless instances, necessaries and not luxuries.
